

"Tell Congress to enact federal private citizen net metering regulations"

Please join us in asking Congress and President Obama to enact federal 'Private Citizen net metering regulations'.

Net metering regulations are what govern the ability of citizens to connect their own alternative energy system to the electric grid, currently Net metering regulations are set by each state, they are erratic across our country and in some places non existent.

We ask President Obama to support such regulations that the Congress may establish.

We ask Congress to establish that utility companies public and private must allow a minimum of 5% of households to interconnect their private alternative energy systems to the grid and that the utilities must reimburse those system owners for the excess power produced at current wholesale rates.

We ask Congress to establish reasonable interconnectivity practices removing restrictive and redundant equipment requirements.

Federal private citizen net metering regulations will lead to thousands of new jobs in both the installation and manufacturing fields

Please add your name in support of this call for important legislation.
